Incorporating Deed of Suretyship and Cession

1. All copy for advertisements/advertisorials is subject to the approval of the publishers, who also reserve the right to decline to accept or request any copy or advertisement. All such copy, advertisements, or advertisements/advertisorials are subject to the terms and conditions set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and is deemed to be the agent of the client. All payments to the publisher shall be made to the physical address of the publisher or deposited directly into the publisher's bank account.

2. The publishers accept no responsibility for incorrect material supplied. All material supplied is assumed to be correctly sized, marked and appropriate in screen.

3. All production costs will be for the account of the client whether quoted for or not. This includes all photography, layout expenses, litho positive make-up and litho correction costs. The publishers accept no responsibility for incorrect material supplied. All material supplied is assumed to be correctly sized, marked and appropriate in screen.

4. No responsibility will be accepted by the publishers for loss arising from typographical or other errors. The publishers' responsibility is limited to industry printing quality. No responsibility is accepted for any picture selection, from what cause and howsoever arising, which the client may in the past, or now, or from time to time hereafter owe or be obliged to fulfill to the publisher and/or the publisher's successors and assigns as a result of this contract with the publisher, and the publisher's right to suspend services if payment is not received with 60 (sixty) days. This action by the publisher would not, in accordance with the agreed terms, be due for payment.

5. Should it transpire that the client at any time entered into prior deeds of cession or otherwise disposed of any of the right, title and interest in and to any of the debts which will from time to time be subject to this cession, then this cession shall operate as a cession of all the client's reversionary rights. Notwithstanding the terms of the aforo going cession, the client will be entitled to institute action against any of its debtors provided that all sums of money which the client collects from its debtors shall be collected on the publisher's behalf and provided further that the publisher shall at any time be entitled to terminate the client's right to collect such monies/debts.

6. Ownership in all material handed to the publisher and subsequently published shall remain vested in the publisher until the full publishing price in respect thereof has been paid.

7. No notification, latitude or indulgence allowed by the publisher to the client shall be construed as a waiver or abandonment of any of its rights hereunder.

8. Each of the terms herein, excluding liability on the part of the publisher, shall be a separate and divisible term and if any such term becomes unenforceable for any reason whatsoever, the term shall be severable and shall not effect the validity of the other terms.

9. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

10. No person other than a director of the publisher has any authority to contract on the publisher's behalf on any terms and conditions other than those contained herein.

11. No notification, latitude or indulgence allowed by the publisher to the client shall be construed as a waiver or abandonment of any of its rights hereunder.

12. Each of the terms herein, excluding liability on the part of the publisher, shall be a separate and divisible term and if any such term becomes unenforceable for any reason whatsoever, the term shall be severable and shall not effect the validity of the other terms.

13. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

14. No notification, latitude or indulgence allowed by the publisher to the client shall be construed as a waiver or abandonment of any of its rights hereunder.

15. Each of the terms herein, excluding liability on the part of the publisher, shall be a separate and divisible term and if any such term becomes unenforceable for any reason whatsoever, the term shall be severable and shall not effect the validity of the other terms.

16. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

17. No notification, latitude or indulgence allowed by the publisher to the client shall be construed as a waiver or abandonment of any of its rights hereunder.

18. Each of the terms herein, excluding liability on the part of the publisher, shall be a separate and divisible term and if any such term becomes unenforceable for any reason whatsoever, the term shall be severable and shall not effect the validity of the other terms.

19. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

20. Each of the terms herein, excluding liability on the part of the publisher, shall be a separate and divisible term and if any such term becomes unenforceable for any reason whatsoever, the term shall be severable and shall not effect the validity of the other terms.

21. No notification, latitude or indulgence allowed by the publisher to the client shall be construed as a waiver or abandonment of any of its rights hereunder.

22. Each of the terms herein, excluding liability on the part of the publisher, shall be a separate and divisible term and if any such term becomes unenforceable for any reason whatsoever, the term shall be severable and shall not effect the validity of the other terms.

23. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

24. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

25. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

26. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

27. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

28. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

29. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

30. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

31. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

32. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

33. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.

34. By placing his signature on the face hereof the client agrees to the terms and conditions as set out above, agrees that this order constitutes a valid contract with the publisher and certifies that the information given herein by him to the representative of the publishers is true and correct. The signatory further warrants that he/she is duly authorised to contract on behalf of the client and is not subject to any disability in law in binding the client to these terms and conditions.